Q: Who are we?

A: Fennimore is an exclusive firm that is contracted directly by businesses working with owners within manufacturing, distribution, automotive, medical, retail and consumer product areas— to help turn around underperforming businesses and implement positive change. The seasoned business depth and experience of our team, coupled with our unique tools, methods and approach, permits rapid definition of issues, challenges, and urgency to improve. By articulating this vision into realistic and measurable framework, we work alongside front line workers through senior boardroom executives in delivering the right results with the right measures and right milestones. Our philosophy is: You require exceptional value in identifying and executing in an operating environment where value is added to each step in the process, or the task is eliminated. We focus on driving out waste, inefficiency, and all inhibitors to flawless operating execution. We assign the right person for the job, giving you the most in-depth analysis and solutions for your corporation to drastically improve performance.

Q: How are we different?

A: We differ in several ways. First, engagements typically last 3 – 12 months, that's 60% faster than most consulting companies. Second, Fennimore staffers have on-site operating experience in our client's industry and are knowledgeable in all aspects of that field. Third, our process begins with the foundational building blocks utilized in developing a business or strategic plan. Strategic Intent is a principle-driven tool delivering Strategic Planning enabling sustainable change, both representing the cornerstone of business success. Tomorrow's marketplace will not be today's. Whether it's stronger competition, better services, or improved products, success happens when you meet the challenges with a comprehensive, adaptable plan managed by flexible responsiveness.
